Larry Hartfelder, a senior at Western Theological Seminary, Pittsburgh, and student pastor of the New Waterford Presbyterian Church, will begin fulltime duties as pastor of the New Waterford church on Sunday, June 23.

A native of Tulsa, Okla., Hartfelder was graduated from the University of Tulsa where he received a bachelor of arts degree. For the past year he has been student assistant at the Pittsburgh Pleasant Hills Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Hartfelder, a graduate of the University of Tulsa, where she received a bachelor of arts degree, teaches in the Western Pennsylvania School for the Deaf in Pittsburgh.

4-H Club News

Four Leaf 4-H'ers

A report on Rural Life Sunday was given by Linda Hrovatic at the Four Leaf 4-Hers Club meeting Friday in the home of Linda Lucwig.

As president, Linda W conducted the meeting. Members and advisors answered roll call by presenting newspaper clippings on health subjects.

For devotions, Linda Kent read the 100th Psalm.

Sally Ludwig demonstrated how to make molasses sugar cookies. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ludwig.

June 11 at 7 p.m., the club will have a vesper service at Guilford Lake.

Smith Soil Soldiers

The Smith Soil Soldiers 4-H Club met Wednesday at the home of Janice Manypenny, opening the meeting with the 4-H pledge. A round and square dance was planned for June 22 at Smith Grange, and a skating party was planned for June 10.

Janice demonstrated how to clean a milkster. Project books were distributed to the 10 members present, and a wieners roast was enjoyed.

The next meeting will be June 12 at the home of Barbara and Alford Herron.

Meadowbrook Minute Men

Repeating the club pledge, the Meadowbrook Minute Men 4-H Club opened its third meeting Tuesday in the home of Tom and Lynn Moore.

Hickorie Gidley reported on the dairy judging May 20 at the Canfield Fair Grounds.

Tom and Lynn Moore demonstrated how to bridle and saddle a horse. It was reported that a hard ball was purchased with treasury funds and that a bat also will be purchased.

Baseball was played during the recreation period, and Mrs. Moore served refreshments.

Graham Says People Too Silent About Sex

NEW YORK (AP)—Preachers need to do more talking about sex to help curb a rise in immorality that threatens the life of the nation, Billy Graham said Monday night.

"The Bible talks about it plainly," Graham told a crowd of 17,000 at Madison Square Garden. "Ministers need to preach about it. We've been too silent about it."

Graham fired some straightforward comments on the subject, declaring that a current danger to America—greater than communism—is the corruption of sexual standards.

He said pornographic literature, improper dress, idleness of youth, and even educational trends have given impetus to sexual license and crimes.

"I don't think America will ever be destroyed by communism," he said. "If it is to be destroyed, it will be destroyed by moral deterioration from within."

Sexual immorality, he said, "has destroyed more nations than any other single sin."

The sponsors of Graham's meetings, the New York Crusade Executive Committee, decided Monday to extend the drive beyond its scheduled June 30 termination at least until July 21.

INDICTED FOR EMBEZZLING

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Franklin County grand jury Monday indicted Stanley Strader, 69, manager of a state liquor store here, of embezzling $9,141 in state funds between 1947 and 1952. Strader, a Liquor Department employee for more than 20 years, is accused of embezzling the funds by selling cases of liquor without keeping records of the sales.

HURTS KNEE IN BAILOUT

HOLT, England (AP)—Lt. Edward G. Newyear, 26, Willoughby, Ohio, injured his knee Monday when he and three other crew members of a U. S. Air Force B45 Tornado bomber were forced to bail out near here. The plane crashed in a nearby field. The other three air men were also injured.

DeMolay Installation Is Set For Tonight

Installation of DeMolay officers will be held this evening at 7:30 in the Masonic Temple. Parents and guests of the boys are invited to attend.

Saturday evening, 55 members and guests enjoyed a progressive dinner. Courses were served at the homes of Mrs. Glenn A. Broomall, Mrs. Donald Reichert and Mrs. J. Fred Jose.

Following a swimming party at the Salem Country Club, the final course was served at the home of Mrs. L. C. Phillips.

The dinner was planned by the DeMolay Mothers Club.

HA! HA! YOU MISSED

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Gene Wandell installed a "burglar frightener" in his midtown building after thieves broke in six times and took $1,650 worth of tools and building materials.

He mounted a shotgun in a vise, loaded with a blank and hooked the trigger to the window by which the thieves gained entry. He worked twice but Monday morning Wandell found he had been taken for $50 worth of loot—and the shotgun.

Beside the vise was a note: "Ha, ha... you missed."

Sen. Byrd Predicts Economy Drive Will Force Ike To Cut Next Budget

Foresees 'Significant' Slash In $73 Billion Asked In January

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) predicted today the current economy drive will force President Eisenhower to cut his next budget even if spending remains high in the year ahead.

Byrd, who heads the Senate Finance Committee, expressed confidence Congress will make "significant" reductions in the more than 73 billion dollars in new money requests submitted by Eisenhower in January.

Actual government outlays are not fully controlled by the lawmakers' action on such requests. Previous Congresses have made available a huge backlog of funds on which the President can draw if he chooses to carry out his proposed $71,800,000,000 spending program.

Byrd said this situation may prevent the kind of 6½-billion-dollar lowering in spending he wants. Two congressional groups have forecast that spending will go over higher than Eisenhower estimated in January.

"But in my judgment the economy campaign is going to force the President to reduce his budget next year," Byrd said. "That will be an election year and unless he cuts spending, there won't be any room for the kind of substantial tax reduction the American people want."

"If he submits a budget as high as this year's, Congress might cut taxes anyway and the President would have to share the blame for any deficit that occurred."

Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.), a Finance committee member, said in a separate interview he believes Congress will lop about 2½ billion dollars off Eisenhower's new money requests. But he agreed with Byrd that the action won't necessarily reduce the spending level.

Congress sent Eisenhower Monday a $597,790,25 Commerce Department money bill which was $273,722,775 below the President's requests. Emphasizing its position the Senate voted 67-0 its final approval of the measure.

That bill, the fourth to clear Congress, increased to $461,756,784 the amount Congress has cut from Eisenhower requests totaling $5,523,375,784.

In turn, Eisenhower asked Congress Monday for 149½ million dollars in additional fund to operate the Post Office Department in the next year. He said that unless Congress increases the $3,192,000,000 it already has voted, mail service will have to be curtailed July 1.

Teamsters Resume Delivery Service

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Home delivery of merchandise purchased in Youngstown-Warren area stores resumed today after striking Local 577, Teamsters Union, agreed to a three-year contract Monday night.

The new contract calls for a wage increase of 16 cents an hour the first year and an additional 10 cents in each of the two succeeding years, according to John J. Angelo, Local secretary-treasurer.

The 250 drivers asked a 50-cent-an-hour increase when they began their strike at midnight Friday.

During the strike merchandise piled up at furniture and department stores, parcel delivery firms and similar concerns. Although deliveries resumed today they are not expected to be on a normal schedule before Thursday.

Contract negotiations were on an individual basis with each store since there is no single employers association.

A truck driver delivering furniture to a strikebound store Monday afternoon told police he was slugged by a picket. The picket, who has not been charged, said he hit the truck driver, W. C. Ellis, 33, after Ellis "almost pushed me against a window."

It Did Not Fail

The question on the 10th anniversary of the foreign aid program that began as the Marshall Plan in 1947 is this:

Was there any alternative that the United States could have turned to 10 years ago, when the problem was to check the spread of Russian influence — something that would have produced better results with less dissatisfaction?

When Secretary of State George C. Marshall announced a plan for shoring up the free world with U. S. productivity and know-how, opposition was strong and prompt. Skeptics said it would not work.

They said the United States would be a victim of its own good impulses; that it would be gilded mercilessly by a passel of slick foreign ingrates.

But the opponents did not carry the day. World opinion did not confirm their skepticism. The Organization for European Economic Cooperation was formed promptly to make the most of the forthcoming assistance. In December 1947, Congress authorized the beginning of a long-range program to build stability abroad and thereby to preserve the dignity of man from degradation by Russian conspirators.

It is impossible to separate the Marshall Plan from preceding stop-gap programs of foreign assistance, dating back to 1941. Altogether, the United States has disbursed more than 110 billion dollars.

Through the end of World War II, its gross outlay was more than 49 billion. Since then, the outlay has been more than 61 billion. Net totals are unobtainable, because of the nature of the program. No one knows how to appraise the results financially.

Did the United States have an alternative in 1947 when Secretary Marshall affirmed faith in the helping hand as the surest way to stop the spread of Russian Communism?

The fact is that Russian Communism was checked in Europe. The Marshall Plan did not fail in what it was designed to do. Whether or not it cost too much is a question that cannot be answered for years to come.

Cutting The Jugular

The problem of the military mind in the United States does not change much, even though the labels change.

Until militarists broadened out and quit being intellectually brass-bound, the problem was how to widen their perspective enough to understand other points of view. Now that they are noted for their all-around intelligence, the problem is how to make them share their point of view with others on a give-and-take basis.

"We cannot afford to gamble with national defense," they reply to every proposal for cutting the budget. This is supposed to be a complete rebuttal to the proposal that a 4 per cent cut in the military area of the Eisenhower administration's budget would not be out of line.

If pressed for particulars, militarists point out that any cutting would be done at the expense of the guided-missile program. In previous years, it always was pointed out that any cutting would be done at the expense of whatever was considered most essential at the time — heavy bombers, for example.

Why does every proposal for a reduction of military spending have to cut the jugular of an essential program?

Why is it impossible to admit that a budget reduction of a few percentage points could be taken out of nonessential spending?

The military mind does not change much over a period of years. It just becomes better educated.

For The 102nd Time

Life will go on in Ohio as if the General Assembly had not finished its 102nd session. Moreover, it will go on pretty much as if there had been no session in the first place.

The trouble — if that is what it is — lies not in this year's performance but in the way the legislature operates.

It tries to cover the entire range of big and little issues and proposals in no more than six months once every two years. The other three-fourths of the time, its members draw their pay for staying at home.

This guarantees that most of the legislature's work will be done under pressure and in confusion. This, in turn, becomes a guarantee that its leaders, its blocs and its lobbyists will assert maximum influence, because they will be the only ones capable of keeping track of what is going on.

There will be scarcely any time for legislative discussion and no time at all to build up statewide discussion, except under forced draft. Trifles will become momentous, and momentous things may be overlooked entirely.

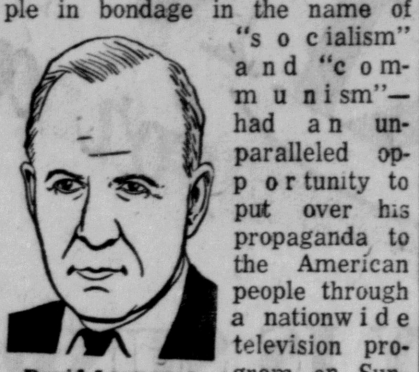

Gov. O'Neill says he is well satisfied with the 102nd session. The Democrats do not seem to be acutely dissatisfied. The rest of us will be able to make up our minds better when we have had a few months to learn what happened during the confusion of a less than five-month session.

They Wouldn't Dare

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Ike Won't Get Equal Time On Soviet Network

Nikita Khrushchev — head of the evil group in the Kremlin which holds hundreds of millions of people in bondage in the name of "socialism" and "communism" — had an unparalleled opportunity to put over his propaganda to the American people through a nationwide television program on Sunday afternoon and a radio rebroadcast Sunday night.

David Lawrence
day afternoon and a radio rebroadcast Sunday night.

It was a smart thing to let the Communist dictator sound off over an American network because it certainly challenges the Soviet rulers now to give an equal opportunity for a spokesman of the American government to tell the people of Soviet Russia some plain truths.

Obviously the man to do it is President Eisenhower. Whether the Soviet government does or does not give the necessary permission, it would be effective if the President sought to address the Soviet people and, failing this, recorded the address, anyhow, for broadcast throughout the world.

IT COULD be sent by radio across the "iron curtain" from western European stations. This is not as satisfactory as the opportunity to talk directly to the people of Soviet Russia such as Khrushchev had to talk to the American people. But it would be the beginning of a debate that could be carried on for a long time.

It isn't necessary to engage in an argument over the meaning of the euphemistic words and phrases used by Khrushchev as he portrayed the supposed state of happiness and prosperity and contentment of the peoples of Soviet Russia and the satellite countries.

It is necessary for an American spokesman only to tell the people behind the "iron curtain" how a free country like America really lives.

The mere recital of what is happening here would afford a contrast with what the people behind the "iron curtain" are experiencing.

Here in America, for example, there is discussion of all sides of public issues.

Here a man can be free from the operations of a secret police which suddenly descends on the Russian home and whisks the occupants away to Siberia without a trial.

If the President were to describe in his address the freedom that America enjoys — what it is and how it functions — he would be creating in the minds of the Soviet people a craving to realize such freedom themselves someday. This is moral force at its best.

WHAT THE COMMUNIST dictator said over the broadcasting networks on Sunday was the same old line he and other officials have uttered time and time again.

It was a brazen attempt to erase from the memory of the people of the free world the crimes of the past and to argue that the Communist system of government is best for "mankind."

There may be persons in America who will wonder more and more about what this curious thing called "communism" really is, after hearing Khrushchev extol it so emphatically. But the American press and radio and television fortunately can present the truth to the American people.

They can tell the story of the crimes being committed every day in eastern Europe and wherever a Communist regime holds sway. Evil is evil no matter how much it is glossed over by such phrases as "peaceful co-existence."

Millions and millions of Soviet citizens are in concentration camps today because they tried to speak their minds or because they were suspected of holding political views differing from those of the governing body.

ACTUALLY, there is only one political view permitted expression in the Soviet Union, only one political party that may have its name on the ballot and only one clique that directs the destinies of millions of people.

Internal strength is possible for the Soviet Union only if the government gradually improves the economic lot of the people there.

This cannot be done while a threat of war hangs over the country and there is need for money and labor to build armament.

What Khrushchev is really after is a breathing spell. He preaches "co-existence" as a sort of armistice proposal. But the "cold war" will go on because the Communists never keep their word.

They are violating the armistice in Korea, for instance, every day of the year.

Certainly the Kremlin would prefer not to fight any big war, believing indeed that it can obtain its supremacy throughout the world by infiltration and intrigue inside weaker countries.

BUT IT WANTS disarmament as a means of assuring that it will not be interfered with in a military way while it seeks to obtain its objectives through operations in the free countries.

This is the big "cold war" operation on which the Communists are spending billions of dollars in propaganda.

It would be interesting to see whether the Soviets will give the world another proof of how one-sided and faithless are their proposals.

Does the Kremlin really dare to let the truth penetrate the "iron curtain" through an address by an American spokesman who would present the anti-Communist side of the argument directly to the Soviet people?

Power Mower Boom

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—With a few hot spells and heavy rains the song of the power mower is heard in the land. And this year for the first time, makers say, the ladies are shopping for the mechanized grass clipper.

Makers are expecting a keenly competitive year. They entered the big selling season with a fairly heavy inventory. And on the demand side was the disquieting drop in home building.

Unit sales for the industry are running so far at about last year's rate, although some individual makers predict this will be their biggest year for unit sales. For all 1956 the industry sold 3,200,000 units, at around 250 million dollars at retail.

Industry leaders differ on prospects for dollar sales volume.

One large maker — Outboard Marine's lawn-boy division of Lamar, Mo.—points out that all retail prices have tended down since the industry really got going 10 years ago. In 1946 retail sales averaged $122.30 per mower. In 1956 the average price paid was about $78.

Another large maker—Toro of Minneapolis—believes dollar sales volume will rise this year. Officials point out that homes being built this year are larger and located on bigger plots—tempting new owners to buy mechanical help in lawn clipping. They add that more of the self-propelled rotary type mowers are being sold, as well as more riding mowers—the most tempting of all for a man with a really noble lawn and aging legs. Many of the new mowers have larger cutting width and cost more. Toro says its sales currently are running 15 per cent ahead of last year.

Montgomery Ward reports it is selling seven power Wardmaster's to every one of the hand variety, and that more of the higher priced models are selling this year. It looks for a dollar volume sales peak.

Fairbanks Morse reports current sales at an all time peak, with 25 per cent of its sales being of the riding mowers. It notes that self starting models are getting a response from women—who formerly mostly left mower buying to their men.

Since 1946 the industry has sold 17 million power mowers.

Not That Devastating

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The effect of the Supreme Court's historic ruling Monday on revealing secret information of criminal trials seems hardly as devastating as Justice Tom Clark considers it.

A close reading of the court's opinion — from which Clark strongly dissented — doesn't show it means the government, particularly the FBI, must henceforth throw its secret files wide open to a person prosecuted by the government.

The court's opinion appears to have a much narrower meaning than that. This is what happened: Under the Taft-Hartley labor law, if a union is to get the protection of the government in dealing with an employer, its officers must file an affidavit that they are not Communists.

Clinton E. Jencks, former union official in the Southwest, took such an oath in 1949. The government charged he lied and prosecuted him. He was convicted and appealed to the Supreme Court.

The government used two witnesses — Harvey F. Matusow and J. W. Ford, both of whom were Communist party members but also undercover agents for the FBI — in its effort to show Jencks was a Communist at the time he swore he hadn't.

They testified that. They also said they had written many notes about Jencks to the FBI while they were watching the labor leader. At the trial, however, they testified from memory.

The notes were not produced at the trial. They were in the FBI's secret files. If the notes were produced and compared with the witnesses' testimony, they might show Matusow and Ford were either lying or had bad memories, Jencks' attorneys contended.

For that reason, the attorneys asked the trial judge to call for the notes and look at them. He refused. The defense attorneys didn't ask permission first to read the secret notes themselves.

The majority of the court Monday, in granting Jencks a new trial, went far beyond what the attorneys had asked. The court ruled they should have been able to examine the Matusow-Ford notes before even the trial judge saw them.

The reason: to determine whether there was a contradiction between notes and testimony. But Justice Clark read a dire implication into this opinion of the majority.

"Unless Congress changes the rule announced by the court . . . those intelligence agencies of our government (the FBI) for instance may as well close up shop for the court has opened their files to the criminal and afforded him a Roman holiday rummaging through confidential information as well as vital national secrets," he said.

But what the court actually said was this:

The government, when it wants to prosecute a person, can't withhold even the most vital or secret information if that information has been supplied by witnesses the government is using to prosecute the accused.

But — this ruling of the court requires that the government supply only the secret information provided by those witnesses.

The court did not hold that its ruling applied to all the secret information it had gathered against the accused from all sources other than the witnesses at his trial.

Nevertheless, this ruling will force the government — before bringing to trial a spy, a Communist or someone else — to make up its mind on this: Would it be better for the national welfare in any particular case not to prosecute if secret information from certain witnesses, whose testimony was needed to convict, had to be revealed?

But one of the most highly placed lawyers in the government, avoiding an excited view about the ruling, told this writer:

In some cases — such as FBI undercover agents who are no longer active or useful — it may not make much difference if, in using them as witnesses, secret information they supplied is brought into the open.

It might make a big difference in other cases where a witness and his secret information are still highly important and useful to the government.

Questions and Answers

Q — Would you please explain what the Rubin test means? — Mrs. M. M.

A — This is a test made to determine whether the passageway between the ovaries and the womb, known as the oviducts or Fallopian tubes, are open. If they are not, it is impossible for an egg to pass down this route. Sometime the performance of this test alone will open a previously closed passageway.

Q — My niece, who will soon be 17, has been conscious of her eyes being crossed. She has a chance of getting this corrected and the doctors have told her that it is a simple operation on the eye muscles. However, many unknown friends tell her that there is great risk and it might affect her vision, so she is greatly upset about this possible surgery. What do you think? — Mrs. H. R.

A — It seems a safe assumption that your niece has had advice from a good eye specialist and that her friends who are worrying her are interfering busybodies.

Q — Recently, as I was walking, I felt pain from a nail that had gone through my shoe and made a puncture wound in my foot. A doctor subsequently cleaned this out and administered a test shot of tetanus antitoxin. Within 20 minutes my arm swelled up and 24 hours later I developed severe hives. Since then, one doctor has recommended the tetanus shots that they give to babies, but another advises against this since he fears another allergic reaction. Would you discuss this? — Mrs. S. G.

A — In all probability the first injection you received consisted of tetanus antitoxin derived from an animal source. This is to produce temporary immunity to tetanus. Allergic reactions from it are not unusual. However, the preventive inoculations consist of tetanus toxoid prepared in an entirely different manner and aimed at producing a lasting resistance. Allergic reactions from the latter are comparatively rare. It is considerably safer to take these than to run the risk of another allergic reaction from the tetanus antitoxin if you ever were exposed again to tetanus.

Champion Cabinet Officer

By JERRY KLEIN

When a member of the president's cabinet resigns today there is always an abundance of candidates for the $22,500 post—but it wasn't so easy in the days of the founding fathers.

The jobs often were so hard to fill, one man actually held three at one time in the administration of the fifth president, James Monroe.

Samuel Southard of Basking Ridge, N.J., was named Mr. Monroe's secretary of the navy in 1823. In 1825 he became secretary of the treasury and three years later took on the post of secretary of war.

And in 1801, when Secretary of the Navy Benjamin Stoddert resigned, President Thomas Jefferson went through a long list of politicians before he found a man willing to take the job. Robert Smith, a Princeton lawyer, finally accepted the administration of the three-ship U.S. Navy.

When the attorney general's post became vacant a little later, he filled that spot too. In the cabinet of President James Madison Mr. Smith became secretary of state.

Southard was a sort of champion officeholder of the time. He served as attorney-general of New Jersey, justice of the State Supreme Court, governor and U.S. senator.

Southard also became acting vice-president of the United States in 1841 when Vice President John Tyler succeeded William Henry Harrison in the White House. He was politically active for 40 of his 60 years.

But Southard's record pales before that of Yukio Ozaki, probably the world champion parliamentarian. Ozaki was first elected to the Japanese Diet in 1889 and served for over 63 years.

Kids And Crime Waves

Ghastly crimes that once would have been thought incredible among small fry were highlighted a few days ago when a 14-year-old schoolboy shot and killed his mother and sister over a minor argument about homework.

Frightful behavior by kids is reported daily from all parts of the land.

Psychiatrists make with the usual "hard-to-take" explanations. But our own Elmer Twitchell asks "What can you expect?"

A mopey today comes up through childhood in a society which keeps him on a diet of crime portrayal in fields that influence him most.

"BY THE TIME a kid is fourteen he has seen so many portrayals of savagery, violence and murder, most of the time by glamorous people, that his instinct for revulsion has been flattened like a grape under a bulldozer. And most of what he sees comes under the head of ENTERTAINMENT!" Elmer continued.

"EVEN IN THE MILDEST westerns dished out to him hour after hour in theater and living room his heroes scorn the proverbial decades of battle. Sissiness is their specialty.

Not a man-to-man battle is depicted without every foul blow known to man being used. The old-time one-punch hero is obsolete.

Today he must smash his man fifty times with his fists, kick him in the teeth, jump on his prostrate body and give him a boot in the belly for good measure.

Gun drawing, pistol-whipping and unnecessary roughness with gun, jagged bottle and foot and knee are routine.

If any vestige of sportsmanship gets into the picture, the kids see it's a sign the director and producer fell asleep. If any note of pity gets in it is a sign they are dead," said Twitchell.

"IT IS EASY to expect that kids, raised in such a situation, will, in moments of high temper, shrink from the thought of hurting and perhaps killing somebody? They've been schooled in cruelty, lawlessness and contempt for standards."

Elmer was quite hot about it. "And take a look," he said, "at the recent events. . . Frankie Costello gets out of the hoosegow and newsreels and newspapers picture him giving his autograph to kids!"

On a TV show a notorious figure in underworld history gets star billing to admit killings and to attack law officers!

On the same program a guest is featured in a denunciation of Bible teachings!

The trial of a man charged with arranging the blinding of a crusader against crime is blocked by underworld threats to bump off vital witnesses!

But stop me before I blow my top, buster. The kids need a friend as never before, and they are not getting them from Senate investigators, juvenile delinquency hearings, public officials, leading citizens, program sponsors, or highly paid movie czars!"

SOMEHOW ON THIS YEAR'S Memorial Day our mind went back to boyhood when an inspiring experience was to see the Civil War vets, a little grayer each year, in what was then a big parade. . . It impressed a boy specially because wars had not become frequent and commonplace.

The Civil War had been the first for America in generations and by standards it was then an extra big one, leaving in every town and city the one-legged and the armless who passed in review with the other survivors through the main streets and to the cemeteries.

Each aging man in live seemed somehow a personal hero. . . Back home the parade moved out Sylvan ave.—a lovely name for any street—on the last lap to Evergreen Cemetery, with the Second Regiment Band leading.

Fadely which will result in a $7,020 reduction in the exterior face brick because of a difference in price from the one originally quoted.

GRADING FOR FOOTERS is completed for Units E, D, and C, and is now in process for Unit B, Wright reported, adding that surface grading to the approximate grade level is now being executed around Unit E.

Footers are completed in Unit E and D together with connections for Unit C, he said. Steel has been erected for Unit E, including roof joints.

Storm sewers have been laid from N. Lincoln Ave. through Unit E to the catch basins east of Unit E and south to Unit D. Both storm and sanitary sewers have been laid from E. Sixth St. through Hawley Ave. to the northwest corner of Unit A.

Plumbing piping for toilets in Unit E is being assembled, Wright said, and some brick, back-up tile and sawed stone are at the site. George Koontz reported to the board that he, J. P. Hayden and H. A. Enemark have agreed to pay for tiles and a catch basin on their property to handle storm water flowing from the school grounds onto their adjacent properties. The work will be done by the school contractor.

The kitchen in the new cafeteria will be outfitted to handle both gas and electric, Fadely told the board, although the electricity has been stubbed off in the crawl space. Little wiring will be involved to install overall electricity, he added.

Court

turned to a district court in Chicago for determination of just how that should be accomplished. The process was expected to be a long one.

Du Pont's 23 per cent stock interest in GM, the Supreme Court decided, results in violation of the Clayton Antitrust Act. Du Pont started buying GM stock 40 years ago and says it now holds 63 million shares. Other sources put the total at more than 64 million.

Officials Acted Honorably Justice Brennan, speaking for the four-judge majority, said Du Pont "purposely employed the stock to try open the General Motors market to enrich itself."

Although he said top officials of both firms "acted honorably and fairly" in behalf of their respective firms "without any design to overreach anyone."

With Brennan on the majority were Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black and Douglas.

Justice Burton, in a dissenting opinion in which Justice Frankfurter joined, protested the Supreme Court had disregarded fact-finding made by the trial judge in its conclusion that the evidence fell within the Supreme Court's "theory of illegality."

Justices Clark, Harlan and Whitaker did not participate in the case.

The decision reversed U. S. Dist. Judge Walter J. LaBuy in Chicago. After a seven-month trial, LaBuy said the government had failed to prove conspiracy, monopolization, restraint of trade or any reasonable probability of a restraint.

Brennan's opinion stated: "We hold that any acquisition by one corporation of all or any part of the stock of another corporation, competitor or not, is within the reach of the section (of the Clayton Act) whenever the reasonable likelihood appears that the acquisition will result in a restraint of commerce or in the creation of a monopoly of any line of commerce."

O'Mahoney noted that a sizable bundle of antitrust legislation awaits congressional action, much of it endorsed by the Eisenhower administration. The Supreme Court ruling, he suggested, will strengthen the movement.

Pending are the "premerger notification" bill, requiring large firms to notify the government of planned mergers; a proposed tightening of the Robinson-Patman "anti-price discrimination" law; and other measures, including one for a tighter regulation of bank mergers.

When word of the decision hit Wall Street, GM stock rose a little, then fell partway back. Du Pont shares spurted to $202.50, a rise of $6.50, but closed at $197.50 for a net gain of $1.

Boy Reports Father Kills Wife, Self

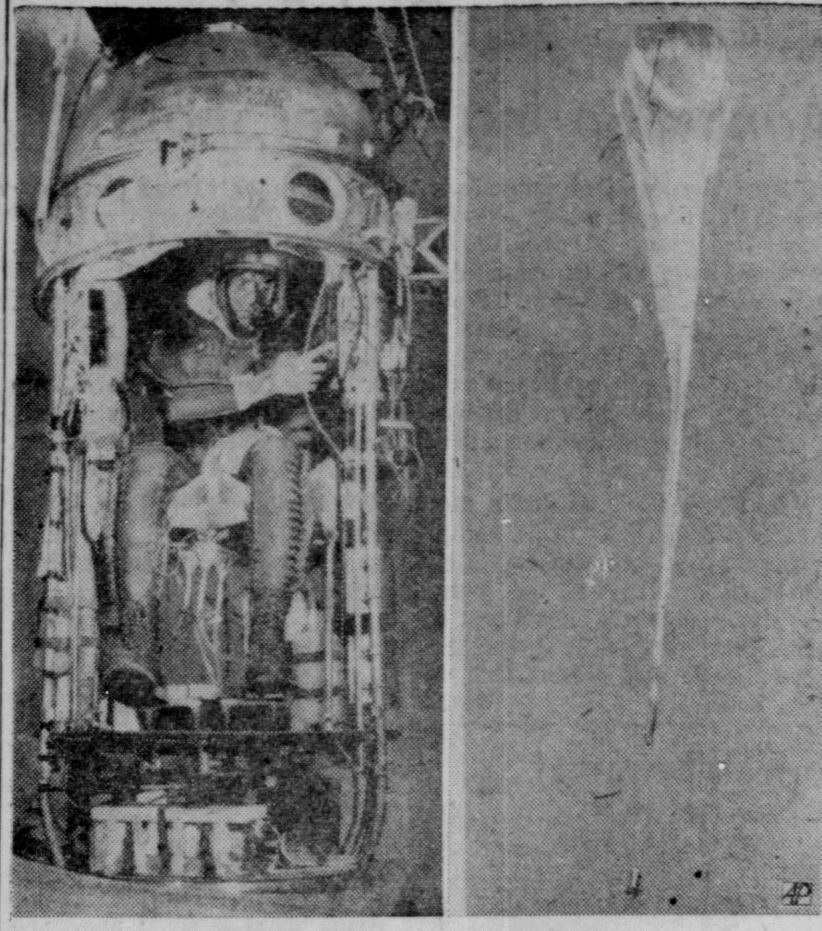

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—A 9-year-old boy called the sheriff's office early today to report that his father had shot and killed his mother and then committed suicide.

Sheriff's deputies found Leroy King, about 60, and his wife, Kathryn, about 50, dead in their farm residence on the outskirts of the city.

The son, Leroy Jr., was taken to the detention home, pending the arrival of relatives. The boy said the shootings followed a quarrel between his parents.

Coroner Jack Walker has not ruled on the deaths, but Sheriff Alton Young said it appeared to be murder and suicide. He said a .32 caliber automatic pistol was the weapon.

King was a retired Sandusky tavern operator.

cellar space. Fadely suggested the use of slag on the area.

The stripping of top soil from the Sixth St. right-of-way is in progress, Fadely reported. He said a cable fence is being strung across the lot about 50 feet back from Perkins Ave. so that the area may be chained off to prevent parking and to be opened only at game times.

Fadely requested permission for janitors to attend a maintenance school at Ohio State University June 11-14. The board approved the request. Attending will be B. C. Wintermantle, Charles H. Fineran, James U. Thomas, Charles H. Ward, Stanley Lentz and Fadely.

Harold W. Spiker was hired as assistant janitor of city schools at $275 per month, effective last Saturday. Miss Neva Geary was hired by the board as a full-time secretary in the Trades Extension office.

The board approved the acquisition of fire and tornado protection for the new high school building, effective June 1, following clearance with the architects and general contractor of the school.

Favors Vocational Expansion The values of a vocational guidance program in the junior high through high school groups were reviewed by Jack Rance of Salem who appeared before the board "as an interested citizen."

Rance declared that initiation of such a program in city schools would assist youth in matching their aptitudes with their abilities during their formative years, thereby enabling the boys to know for what they are outfitted.

The Salem High School activities fund report, presented by Kooztz, revealed a total of $7,367.32 in receipts and $9,527.09 in payments during May, with a balance of $9,576.60.

gers away from the area he had been directed to guard.

The status of forces agreement involved provides for trial in Japanese courts for offenses committed by U. S. servicemen not in the performance of "duty."

In the Girard case, for the first time in more than 14,000 incidents of alleged infractions of local law, the Japanese claimed their treaty right to be the judges of whether an act is carried out on "duty."

That was the controlling issue in the Girard case, and the decision apparently hinged on the precise nature of Girard's orders.

The U. S. officials agreed that Girard had orders from his platoon commander to guard a machinegun and other equipment in the area.

But they accepted the Japanese contention that Girard's action in firing the shell case was "outside the scope of his guard duty" and was, therefore, not "done in the performance of official duty."

The commanding general of Girard's division certified that the action "was done in the performance of official duty."

Firing "Not Authorized" But the Wilson-Dulles statement said the firing of empty shell cases from the grenade launcher "was not authorized."

The cabinet officers noted that "others stated, but Girard denied, that empty shell cases were thrown out to entice the Japanese to approach."

The Japanese Embassy hailed the new ruling and expressed belief "the unfortunate affair will be amicably settled" through it.

Minister Takeshi Shimoda said said "of course Japanese authorities will take the utmost care so that the trial will be conducted with the utmost fairness."

But reaction among American lawmakers made it clear the matter is not finished.

Before more than bare outlines of the decision were generally known, Rep. Bow (R-Ohio) was denouncing it and demanding treaty revision.

Sen. Butler (R-Md) issued a statement demanding congressional re-examination of all status of forces agreements.

Bow told reporters Girard is "being sacrificed to Japanese nationalism" and said he will push for early adoption of his resolution for renegotiation of the agreements on servicemen's trials.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee has scheduled for June 13 a hearing on the Bow resolution calling on President Eisenhower to cancel or renegotiate the agreement.

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) described the Girard ruling as "the sacrifice of an American soldier to appease Japanese public opinion."

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee announced he has called for a complete report from Wilson. Vinson said he would not decide on committee action, nor comment on the case, until that report is in hand.

Rep. Mason (R-Ill) said the Girard decision is an "excellent example" of why the status of forces treaties should be canceled. Mason's district includes Girard's home.

5 Drivers Fined, 4 Leave Bonds In Lisbon

LISBON — Five motorists were fined a total of $85 and costs by Mayor Wilbur Warren Monday for traffic violation, and four forfeited bonds when they failed to appear for hearings.

cular emphasis being given to any one test, with more attention given to daily performance.

Dr. Donald Lease, a board member, said that the initial purpose of inaugurating exams was being overlooked since the board originally had felt the student needed to be aided in overcoming the psychological difficulties encountered when he enters college and is faced with a final exam.

Lease said the students should be notified of the impending exams, thereby experiencing preparation for a "true" final, and that the grade for the test should be counted apart from other six-week period work.

The board decided to table the discussion until the next meeting, after which they will notify Principal Ludwig of their decision.

Tax Cuts

"substantial" nature—somewhere between three and five billion dollars—would present high interest rates have to be reduced or taxes cut.

The panel of businessmen and economists Monday agreed that easing of the government's "tight money" policy, or "substantial" tax reduction, would be dangerously inflationary in the present economic situation.

They were equally agreed that business activity was nearing a "plateau" with future economic advances likely to be limited.

Walter E. Hoadley, treasurer of Armstrong Cork Co., told the committee that the postwar rise in the economy appeared to be an "interim period" of adjustment before another upward push a year or two hence.

Inflation, he declared, is now "the No. 1 economic problem" at a time of rising prices and a "cresting" of economic expansion. "More inflation seems almost certain, but how long it will persist is not clear," he testified.

Kilnhands Walkout Idles 1,400 Potters

EAST LIVERPOOL — An estimated 1,400 employees were idled today at the Homer Laughlin China Co. in Newell, W. Va. as a kilnhands walkout that started on Monday spread to all five of the company's plants.

A Laughlin spokesman said few employees are on the job, except those in decorating departments, and warehouses. The rest were sent home because of the production tieup, caused by the kilnhands' stoppage. Approximately 800 were idled Monday after 40 kilnhands walked off the job in two plants. The company referred to the stoppage as an illegal strike.

Mrs. Dean D. Ray

Miss Mary Ann Sevenich Is Wed Saturday To Dean Ray

The St. Patrick Catholic Church in Leetonia was the scene of the Saturday morning wedding of Miss Mary Ann Sevenich and Dean D. Ray.

Rev. W. W. Maund officiated at the double ring ceremony which united in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Sevenich of 47 Walnut St., Leetonia, and the son of Mrs. Mary Milne of Canton and John F. Ray of RD 2, Columbiana.

The altar of the church sanctuary was filled with vases of white gladiolus as the St. Patrick School Choir sang "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother." Sister Marie DeLores was at the organ. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace, fashioned with a sabrina neckline, fitted bodice, and long pointed sleeves, with scallops fashioned at the bottom of the bouffant skirt.

A fingertip veil was held in place by a lace cap trimmed with seeded pearls. The bride carried a spray of pink sweetheart roses and white daisies.

Miss Theresa Sevenich, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a ballerina length gown of white nylon chiffon with the bodice trimmed in coral. She carried a spray of blue and white daisies and also wore a band of blue and white daisies in her hair.

Miss Barbara Sevenich, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Robert Mesmer of North Lima, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids, wearing identical ballerina length gowns of white nylon chiffon with the bodices trimmed in cotton blue. They also carried a spray of blue and white daisies and wore a band of blue and white daisies in their hair.

James T. Sevenich, brother of the bride, acted as best man; while ushers were Donald L. Ray of RD 2, Columbiana, brother of the bridegroom, and George Kyser of Salem.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Sevenich was wearing a blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Milne wore a navy blue dress with lavender accessories and a white carnation corsage.

A reception was held at the Valley Golf Club in Columbiana for 200 guests. The rooms were decorated with bouquets of orange blossoms and roses. A five tier wedding cake topped with pink wedding bells formed the centerpiece on the bride's table.

Mrs. John Sevenich, aunt of the bride, cut the cake which was served by Mrs. James Weingart, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Goldie Muntean, Mrs. Otis Strohecker, and Gladys Kibler, aunts of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Emil Meissner, aunt of the bride, registered the guests who came from Salem, Columbiana, Cleveland, Carrollton, North Lima, Damascus, and Leetonia.

The bride, a graduate of Leetonia High School, is employed in the office of the Central Clinic and Hospital. Ray is a graduate of Fairfield High School and is employed by the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Co., Columbiana.

For traveling on a tour to Niagara Falls and Canada, the bride chose a navy blue princess styled dress with white accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return the couple will reside at 56 Walnut St., Leetonia.

The rehearsal dinner was held on the home of the bride when the bridal couple presented their attendants with gifts.

250 Youth Attend Annual School Prom

The Lee Barrett Orchestra provided music for dancing at the Junior-Senior Prom for Salem High School students Friday evening at the Salem Golf Club with more than 250 youth attending.

"Younger Than Spring" was the theme of the affair, and the ballroom featured a colonial garden scene.

After-prom activities at St. Paul's gymnasium attracted about 300 youth.

Performers appearing during the program included Carl Holland and his band, Frankie Brunson, the Mello-Tones of Detroit, Everly Brothers of Nashville, Tenn., Bob Crewe of New York City, Buddy Burke and his Royal Canadian Meteors of Canada.

Ethel Boswell of Milwaukee, Wis., vocalist, Jean Shepard of Akron, former Warner Brothers movie personality and dancer, Vini Vincent and Barbara Ann Payne of Akron.

Lew Platt was in charge of program arrangements, assisted by Joe Bryan, Donna Fronk, John Lewis, Judy Schuster, Bobbie Wilms, Carolyn Paxson, Judy Fisher, Ted Jackson, Mark Fenton and Joan Frank, senior class committee members. Chester Brautigam, senior class advisor, also assisted.

Junior committee members were Joyce Bloomberg, Nancy Couchie, Maureen Gonda, Donna Poppel, Marcia Smith, Marcella Volpe, and Mary Ann Howells. Tim Hoppes represented the Parent-Teacher Association as finance chairman.

A cafeteria breakfast provided by the Elks Lodge and Kiwanis Club was served at the Elks Home following the entertainment.

Bruce Miller Is Wed To Miss Berger

Bruce Edwin Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Miller Sr. of Columbiana, and his bride, the former Carolyn Jean Berger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Berger Sr. of Lucas, are residing in Ottawa following a tour of the southern states.

The couple was married May 5 at the Lucas Congregational Church when Auburn F. Haggard, D.D., officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Clifford Culler of Lucas was a soloist, and Mrs. Miriam Byerly of Lucas presided at the organ.

James Berger of Butler, O., gave his sister in marriage. The bride's gown of silk taffeta was trimmed with alencon lace and sequins and styled with a chapel train. She carried daisies centered with a white orchid on a white Bible.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. Donna Jenkins of Fort Wayne, Ind. Miss Mary Ferguson and Miss Elaine Wakely of Dayton, and Miss Glenna Whittinger and Miss Maxine Berger of Lucas.

Willis Miller Jr. served as his brother's best man.

At the reception which followed in the church, Lucretia Hancock registered the 75 guests who came from Columbiana, Youngstown, Lima, Crestline, Springfield, Tiffin, Ottawa, Dayton and Pittsburgh, Pa., and Fort Wayne, Ind.

A graduate of Lucas High School, the bride is assistant head nurse at Miami Valley Hospital at Dayton where she was graduated. Mr. Miller is an executive director of the Boy Scouts of America in Findlay.

Sandra Lee DeJane

Mr. and Mrs. Walter DeJane of 542 E. School St. announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sandra Lee, to Cpl. Eddie Ralph Linger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Linger of 791 Prospect St.

Miss DeJane is a graduate of Salem High School, Class of 1957, and is employed by the Economy Savings and Loan Co.

Her fiancé is stationed at Camp LeJeune, N.C.

The couple has chosen Aug. 24 for the wedding date.

100 Greet Gambles On 25th Anniversary

One hundred guests greeted Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Gamble of Fording Road in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday.

The party was arranged by the couple's children, Mrs. Donald Weaver of Winona, Mrs. Homer Althouse of RD 2, Salem, John Richard, David and Kenneth at home.

Guests were present from Columbiana, Salem, Winona, Washingtonville, North Georgetown, and New Garden.

The buffet table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a three-tier wedding cake. Bouquets of multi-colored iris decorated the home.

Mrs. Robert Ward and Mrs. John Stewart assisted Mrs. Weaver and Mrs. Althouse in serving.

TOURS WESTERN STATES — Donald Ray Sell and his bride, the former Barbara Ann Bailey (above) of RD 1, Leetonia, are honeymooning in the western states. The couple was married May 25 in St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Leetonia. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Agnes Bailey of Salem and Ronald Bailey of Medina. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Sell of RD 4, Lisbon.

Owner: Hardly believe it myself. But this big, beautiful Super 88 gave me more for my money than any other car I looked at . . . and cost way less than you'd guess.

Friend: You've got a lot of car there, all right.

Owner: Wait 'til you see it from where I'm sitting. This upholstery is real leather. And the floors have door-to-door carpeting, front and rear.

Friend: How much extra did that cost?

Owner: Not one cent. Standard equipment—just like the safety-padded dash, the foam rubber seats, and the dual exhausts. And, of course, the Rocket Engine*. I'm telling you, this Olds has everything. Want to try it?

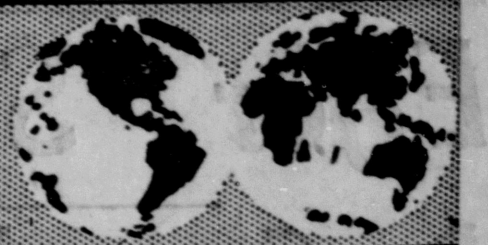

Friend: Move over. I've been thinking about an Olds myself.

PIROGUE RACING

A PIROGUE is a Louisiana Cajun version of an Indian canoe and, according to tradition, is designed for "one man and a day's catch of muskrats." The students at Louisiana State university, however, have turned pirogue racing into an annual derby. Two persons slip into the small craft, which is really designed for one, and try to maneuver about in waist-deep water. Recently a second race was staged for coeds and, because of their lighter weight, they did better than many of the men. The derby is sponsored by the LSU chapter of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Although the pirogue is partially under water, these girls give it the "college try."

Hitting the drink in the race, these two decided it was time to abandon ship.

After their pirogue swamped early, these girls are sitting out rest of the race.

This shows how light a pirogue is. Two girls easily lift it out and drain it.

The Jets' lone marker came in the top half of the fifth inning.

BILL ODERIZZI tallied two hits in two trips to the plate for the winners, and Odey led the losers with two for four.

Patterson To Defend Title For 1st Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Emil "the giant killer" Lence, an avowed independent promoter, has $175,000 for radio-TV rights and a definite date, Monday July 29, for Floyd Patterson's first heavyweight title defense at the Polo Grounds.

Although Tommy "Hurricane" Jackson, the challenger, told newsmen he would like to fight for nothing "to make the world happy," his manager, Lippe Breitbart, already had assured him of 20 per cent. Patterson will get 40 per cent for this rematch of a June 8, 1956 fight that he won on a split decision.

Lence announced his deal with a television network (NBC) and sponsor (General Motors) at a press luncheon Monday and revealed New York and a surrounding 75-mile area would be blacked out on TV.

The TV people normally don't like to risk an outdoor show but they are taking a chance on this one in case of rain, Tuesday, July 30, Monday Aug. 5 and Tuesday Aug. 6 have been reserved.

Jackson, a 4 to 1 underdog, talked like the favorite when he discussed the fight.

"We're not personal friends any more," he said, referring to an earlier friendship with Patterson. "Nothing I can see now but blood, all the way from the beginning."

Asked if he thought he could knock out the champion, the Hurricane was deadly serious. "I ain't talking about it," he said. "Wait 'til I get there. I just can't get there fast enough."

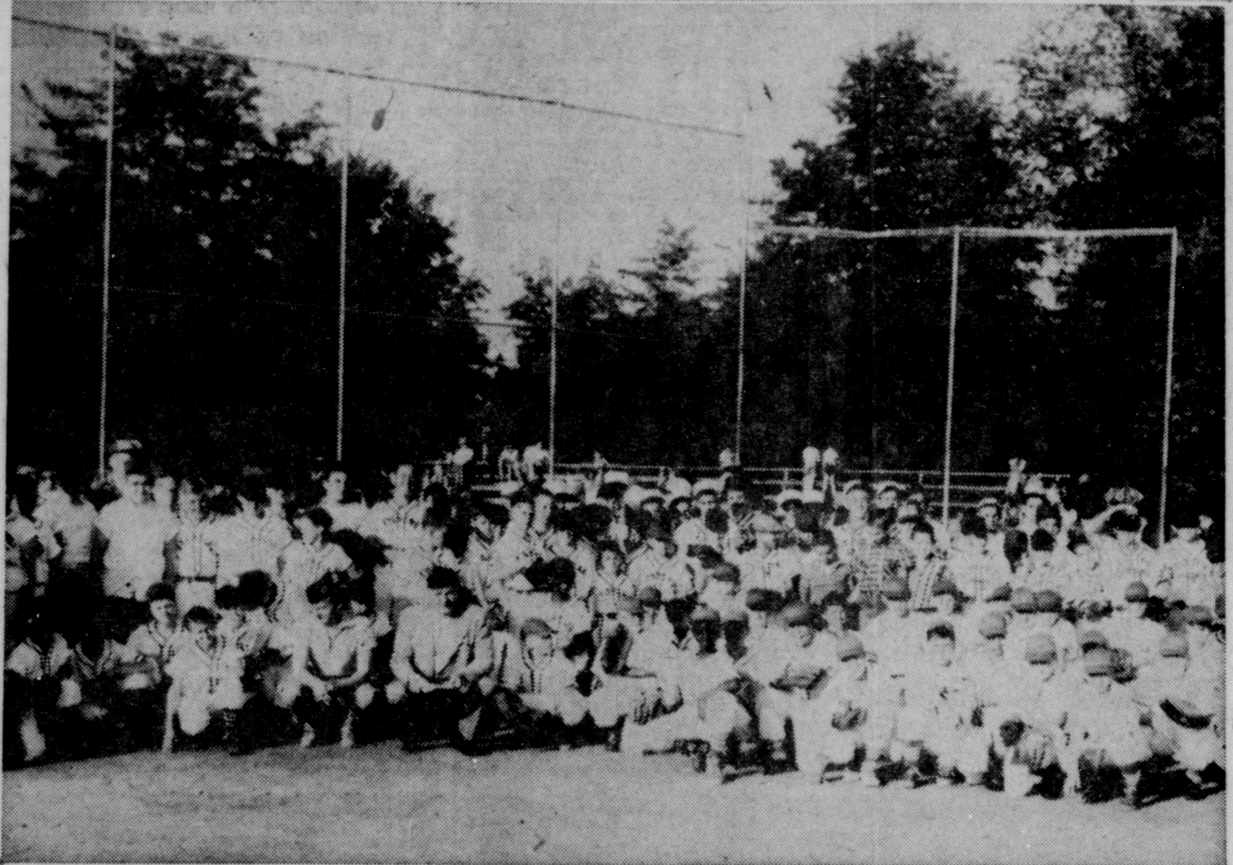

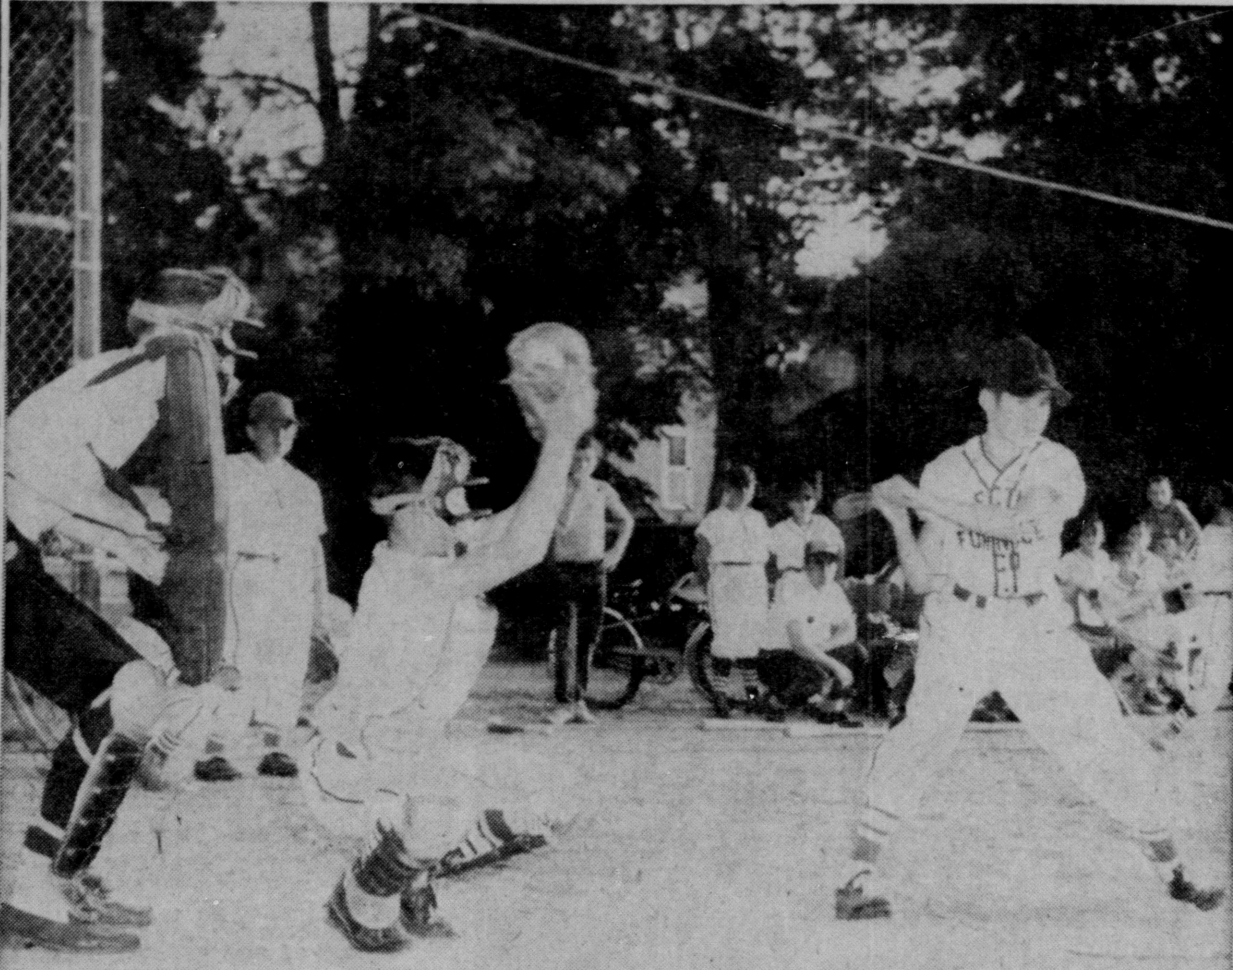

Patterson also attended the luncheon and drew a laugh when he said, "I'm not going to say what Jackson said—fight for nothing." He said he thought the rematch would be a tougher fight for both men. "I'll be punching harder and a little more aggressive," he said. "I'm glad things are moving faster. I never had any doubt about my manager being right. Everything he does comes out right in the end."

Brewer, Finsterwald Qualify For U.S. Open Championship

By The Associated Press

Gay Brewer Jr., and Dow Finsterwald, two fine young golf players, furnished the contrast that marked the sectional qualifying rounds for the 1957 U. S. Open championship as one of the toughest golf competitions on record.

Only 162 golfers, out of an original entry list of 1,920 will be able to start in the championship at Toledo's Inverness Club, June 13-15. Of these, 19 were exempt from Monday's sectional tests. The rest—including a lot of veterans who had enjoyed exemption up to last year—had to win their places in a rugged hole test.

Brewer, a 25-year-old sophomore pro, and Finsterwald, a steady winner who took down nearly $30,000 in prize money, both made it, but the latter came within two breath-taking putts of failing for the second straight year.

They played on the same course at Cincinnati. Brewer, who has earned only about $2,000 in tournament winnings this year, led the whole nation in scoring with rounds of 67-66-133.

Finsterwald, who lost his chance to qualify last year because he couldn't switch to a different district after a rain-delayed Texas tournament, shot a creditable 145. But he found himself in a five-way playoff for last place in his section and had to hole long putts on the two extra holes to win out.

Such starting contrasts marked the play in 24 districts throughout the nation. Players like Sam Snead, Jimmy Demaret, Lloyd Mangrum and Gene Sarazen, who ordinarily wouldn't have to qualify, came through comfortably but unspectacularly. The youngsters and the comparative unknowns furnished most of the fireworks.

Only a stroke behind Brewer at Cincinnati was Pat Schwab of Dayton, who put together rounds of 65-69-134 with an eight on the

Yank Players Confirm Fines

Report Bauer, Martin On Trading Block

CLEVELAND (AP)—The New York Yankees have lost nine of their last 15 games, they've been fined for playing night games in a plus saloon—and the panic button's been pushed. Trouble is, it wasn't the world champions who did the pushing.

Word leaked out Monday that the club had fined Hank Bauer, Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra, Billy Martin and Whitey Ford $1,000 each, and Johnny Kucks $500, for that fracas in a New York night-club early in the morning of May 16.

The report no sooner was confirmed by the players than up popped:

1. A report that Bauer and Martin are on the trading block.

2. A report that manager Casey Stengel and general manager George Weiss are out.

Bauer and Martin commented it's great to be a Yankee, with Martin adding "I hope it doesn't happen. I'm afraid to think how it would feel to play against the Yankees."

Bauer has been mentioned as trade bait since before spring training. So has Martin, particularly since the nightclub incident which broke up his 29th birthday party.

Billy the kid and Mantle are pals, and rumor has it the Yankee front office is afraid Martin may give Mantle some bad habits.

It was reported Monday that Martin, Mantle, Bauer, Ford and Mickey McDermott had been fined $250 each less than a year ago for missing a train in Boston. McDermott since has been traded to Kansas City. Another trade, naturally, could break up the remaining quartet.

Berra, a three-time winner of the American League most valuable player award, and Kucks apparently are newcomers to the crowd. At the time of the nightclub fracas, Stengel benched Berra (who also was in a hitting slump) for one game with the comment that "he oughta know better" and added he didn't think it was right "for those fellows to keep a young fella (Kucks) out that late."

Kucks, admitting he was fined $500, at first was thought to be among the $1,000 sufferers, prompting Stengel to observe "that poor boy oughtn't to be fined the same as the rich players."

Kucks' salary is estimated at $15,000. Berra hauls in $60,500, Mantle $60,000, Ford $35,000, Bauer $27,500 and Martin $21,000.

Stengel and Weiss denied any friction between them, with Weiss pointing to "the results of our our eight years' association" and terming the report "deliberately malicious."

Stengel said "never had any trouble with Weiss. He hasn't lost a game this season. The nightclub thing happened three weeks ago. Everybody's tryin' to make a scandal out of it. Maybe it's because we're the Yankees."

While the club has neither denied nor confirmed the fines, Bauer was among the first to admit he had been docked. All six had been told they would be fined for the nightclub scrap in a meeting with co-owner Dan Topping in Stengel's office May 23. But none found out how much they would lose until they opened their bi-monthly checks Sunday.

Leading the Salem Legion attack were Ralph Ehrhart and Meissner, with two hits each in four trips to the plate.

English Derby Will Be Run Wednesday

Wagner Seeks Definite 'Yes' Or 'No' On Move By Dodgers, Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter O'Malley, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Horace Stoneham, head of the New York Giants, were expected today to clear the air regarding their purported move to the West Coast at a city hall meeting requested by Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Wagner, who already has been quoted as saying he didn't intend to allow himself to be "black-jacked" into helping either the Dodgers or Giants financially, was seeking answers to several specific questions.

Among the things he would like to know are:

1. A definite "yes" or "no" whether the Dodgers and Giants intend to remain in New York or move to Los Angeles and San Francisco.

2. Has O'Malley made any commitments to the Los Angeles people about bringing his Dodgers to California?

3. Are the reports true or false that O'Malley has already contracted with Skiatron TV Inc., of New York, to telecast all Dodger games from Los Angeles via pay-as-you-see for an annual $2 million dollar fee?

Despite the mayor's insistence on the laying the facts on the table, the so-called "showdown meeting" was not expected to bring the situation to a head. Both O'Malley and Stoneham are demanding new ball parks and the mayor is not in a position to accommodate them. Neither club owner feels the time is ripe now for a definite statement.

"We have until October to make up our minds," both have said.

Although the National League has given O'Malley and Stoneham the green light to move to the West Coast, if and when they make the request, no action can be taken, under baseball law, until October 1.

The Dodger-Giants franchise debate was expected to be one of the highlights of the congressional investigation on sports which is slated to open before a House Antitrust Subcommittee in Washington on June 17.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), who heads the committee already has declared he intends to look into the proposed West Coast shifts of the Dodgers and Giants.

Another congressman, Rep. Rooney (D-N.Y.), was even more critical of O'Malley.

"Let them (the Dodgers) move to Los Angeles if the alternative is to succumb to an arrogant demand to spend the taxpayers' money to build a stadium for them in Brooklyn," he said.

Support for O'Malley and Stoneham came from an unexpected source when Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.) laid the blame on the possible transfer shifts at the door of Congress.

cars ARE MY Line

by Al Parker

AMAZE YOUR FRIENDS! MYSTIFY YOUR NEIGHBORS! BE THE FIRST ON YOUR BLOCK!

Those can be the most intriguing words in the world—and I suppose we've all thrown money away answering such bald and bold advertisements.

But this week, at great expense to the management, but at no cost to you, I'm going to pass on a little tid-bit that may help you amaze your friends, mystify your neighbors.

The next time you hear a car horn (and you hear it all too often I'm afraid) cock your ear, put on a very serious and learned expression and tell your friends slowly: "Ah, zat horn, zat is E Flat and G."

In almost every case, you'll be right. The car horn is built like a saxophone and those two notes were chosen for the "car saxophone" after a lot of study.

They have great powers of penetration, which is a safety factor, yet are the most pleasant of the penetrating sounds. Some cars also add B Flat to increase these qualities.

We've come a long way from the early auto horns. The very first was actually a whistle. It was installed in the mufflers of pioneer cars and was pulled with a cable.

Today's auto horn is such a reliable piece of equipment it almost never goes wrong. It's like so much of the equipment in modern cars, working for us all the time and we hardly ever think of it.

But—and this is an important but—there are people in this town who are paid to think of such things. They are our skilled and factory-trained mechanics. Their job is not just to patch up when things go wrong. They have instructions from me to do their best to prevent trouble developing in the future in the cars they service.

While they're doing a routine job on a car, their eyes are constantly on the alert, watching for the telltale signs of trouble. You'll find no telltale signs of trouble on this beautiful feature car! It's a 1955 Mercury Monterey Hardtop and is equipped with such extras as: Merc-O-Matic, radio, heater, turn signals, leather interior, power brakes, whitewalls and others. One local owner. Only $1745.

If you're old enough to remember Rube Goldberg machines you're old enough to lie about your age—but regardless, be sure to look us up next week.

Pirates Edge Giants 6-5; Dodgers Trample Phillies 4-0

Podres Hurts Three-Hitter

Strikes Out Nine; Walks Only Four

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Johnny Podres, Brooklyn's stubby southpaw, emerged as the Dodgers' No. 1 "stopper" today, just when Manager Walt Alton had decided to crack down on his slipping National League champions.

The Brooks read a "no more race tracks" order from the skipper Monday after dropping four in a row. Alton figured his champs weren't paying enough attention to baseball.

Then along came Podres with a neat three-hitter that quieted the ambitious Philadelphia Phillies 4-0. It was Johnny's fifth victory, his fourth shutout — and the second time he has called a halt to a Dodger slump.

The last time the Brooks lost four in a row this season, it was the 24-year-old lefty who bailed them out, pitching a six-hit, 5-0 decision over the New York Giants May 12.

With the victory over the Phillies, the Dodgers climbed into a third-place tie with the idle Milwaukee Braves.

The Pittsburgh Pirates made it three in a row over New York by beating the Giants 6-5 Monday night in the only other game scheduled in the majors.

Podres struck out nine and walked four while dropping his earned run average to 2.05 Monday night and salvaging the final of a four-game set in Philadelphia.

The Dodgers, who had been out-hit only once during the four-game skid, smacked nine hits — including Gil Hodges' sixth home run and Gino Cimoli's sixth — to beat rookie Don Cardwell.

Hodges was 2-for-3 and scored three runs. He walked in the seventh and finally came home on Don Zimmer's single.

The Pirates, swinging for 11 hits off five pitchers, ran up a 3-0 lead in the second against starter Ruben Gomez, then came back with two against loser Joe Magneri in the third after the Giants had tied it in the top of the frame.

Nelson King, who struck out Willie Mays and Dusty Rhodes to put down the Giants' comeback third, won his first in relief of Vern Law, but needed a mop up relief job from Elroy Face. King's squeeze bunt scored the clinching run in the fifth after Johnny O'Brien had tripled.

Cincinnati begins its second invasion of the east tonight at Philadelphia while Milwaukee plays at New York. Chicago's Cubs are at Brooklyn, with St. Louis at Pittsburgh.

The Redlegs swept the east the last time around, starting a 12-game winning streak that hoisted them from fourth place (4½ games behind the then-leading Braves) into the lead.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox stake their five-game lead against the east, opening against Boston tonight. The second place New York Yankees are at Cleveland, with Washington at Detroit and Baltimore at Kansas City.

Redlegs Score 8-3 Victory Over Tribe In Exhibition Tilt

CINCINNATI (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbets figures his prosperous Cincinnati Redlegs face a strong threat in the rising Philadelphia Phillies.

The Redleg plot, whose hurling staff is still a somewhat doubtful factor, says the Phillies will show "just how important pitching is."

A new test of these hurling prospects comes tonight as the Reds open a three-game series in Philadelphia, starting a 12-day road trip.

But the Reds come with bright prospects. Cincinnati leads the National League, 2½ games ahead of the second-place Phillies. Cincinnati road trips this year have also been unusually productive.

For good measure, the Reds bring with them an extra victory — an 8-3 exhibition win wrested Monday night from Cleveland Indians at Crosley Field for the benefit of sandlot baseball players.

The Reds smacked 13 hits around the park, including run-producing doubles by Alex Grammas and Don Hoak.

A record crowd of 24,479 watched Cincinnati lose a three-run lead, then break free from a tie with a run in the fourth inning and three more in the sixth to put the game on ice.

The game was the first time that fans saw slugger Ted Klusowski get into the lineup since his old back ailment cropped up.

Columbus Jets Nip Montreal Royals 3-2
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus' Jets scored two runs in the ninth inning to nip the Montreal Royals, 3-2, here Monday night.

Johnny Powers' second home run of the game, a drive over the right field fence, tied the score for Columbus in the ninth. When the Jets got two more runners on base, shortstop Dick Barone singled to bring home the winning run.

Bobby Del Grecco's leadoff triple in the sixth off Columbus starter Ron Blackburn, followed by two singles and an infield out, gave Montreal a 2-1 lead. Powers' first home run came in the first inning.

again early this year, and he was put on the disabled list.

Klu walked for Ed Bailey in the seventh inning, and Bailey, returning the favor, ran for him, since it was an exhibition game.

Tebbets has some extra worries right now in addition to the baseball problems of the coming road trip.

The mumps has struck among his three children, and he thinks it's possible he may get the disease too.

Redl Gains Win Over Ippolito

Scores Victory Despite Bad Cut

NEW YORK (AP)—Stefan Redl will take an all-winning boxing record into the Army with him next Sunday, thanks to a big assist from second Johnny Sullo.

Little Johnny, an expert "cut" man, did a marvelous job in staunching the flow of blood from a deep, wide cut over Redl's right eye when it seemed almost certain that referee Al Berl would have to stop Stefan's TV bout with Frankie Ippolito Monday night at St. Nicholas Arena.

Sullo worked wonders in the corner and Redl, a Hungarian-born German now living in Passaic, N. J., rallied to gain a split decision in 10 rounds over Ippolito, a 22-year-old New Yorker.

The gash was inflicted early in the third round and blood spurted from the cut through the fifth round. By the sixth Sullo had stemmed the flow. Dr. Alexander examined the cut four times but permitted the strong, well-conditioned Redl to continue.

Judges Harold Barnes (7-2-1) and Tony Castellano (6-4) voted for Redl. Referee Al Berl (5-4-1) gave it to the scrappy Ippolito, a 3-1 underdog. The AP card had Redl in front, 7-2-1 but several of the rounds won by Redl were very close.

Redl, who came on to win with his body smashes, said the cut was caused when he ducked his head into Frankie's elbow after the latter threw a left. From the ringside it looked like a left hook did the damage.

Ippolito bled from the nose from the second round on and the blood from the two made the canvas slippery causing Redl to slip twice.

As a member of the National Guard, which he joined nine months ago, Redl will enter the Army for six months active service.

Ippolito weighed 140½ to Redl's 145½.

SIGNS WITH BALTIMORE
BALTIMORE (AP) — Walter Livingston, 21, outstanding halfback at Heidelberg College in Tiffin, Ohio, signed with the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League Monday. Livingston, voted outstanding back in the 14-school Ohio Conference last season, broke all rushing and scoring records at Heidelberg by accumulating 3,711 yards and 58 touchdowns in four years of play.

Norris, IBC President, Lashes Out

NEW YORK (AP)—While a federal judge considered possible penalties against the International Boxing Club, IBC President James Norris lashed at the government in his own defense.

Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, who found the IBC guilty of monopoly charges, said he would hand down a final decree June 24. Two weeks of hearings were concluded Monday.

Ryan hinted during the hearings that he was thinking along two lines.

1. Dissolve both the IBC of New York and the IBC of Illinois and restrict the activities of Norris and his partner, Arthur Wirtz in boxing promotions.

2. Make Norris and Wirtz decide between operating Madison Square Garden or the Chicago Stadium. They have controlling interests in both arenas.

Meanwhile, in Miami, Norris said he was "sick and tired" of the government measures taken against the IBC.

"I might get out of the fight game altogether if it weren't for the challenge of the thing," he said. "I don't like being asked out. . . forced out."

"My practices have not been questioned in other businesses. I don't like having them questioned in this one."

Maintaining that a big organization was needed to present big-time boxing, he admitted that he did not intend, originally, to become such a power in the sport.

"But when Mike Jacobs (late head of the 20th Century Sporting Club, which controlled boxing before the IBC) got sick, someone had to take over," he said. "We had too much money tied up in stadiums to let them sit idle. And make no mistake. Someone has to control boxing. It takes an organization with money behind it to make sure the fighters get paid and keep the buildings going."

Norris also denied that he had anything to do with killing boxing in the small clubs.

"I haven't killed them," he said. "Television has."

Jimmy Demaret Levels Blast At U.S. Golf Assn.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP) — Jimmy Demaret, one of the top personalities of professional golf, accused the U. S. Golf Assn. of "cheap practices" today and said some day the pros may boycott the National Open.

"It is stupid, absolutely ridiculous, to make a great champion like Sam Snead qualify for the open," said the 47-year-old three-time Masters winners from Kiamasha Lake, N. Y.

Snead qualified for the June 13-15 National Open along with a bevy of ranking professionals at the Knollwood and Metropolis country clubs here Monday.

Demaret, second leading money winner of the year, also was forced to prove his right to play in the tournament at the Inverness Club in Toledo, Ohio. He shot 142.

"Making Snead play 36 holes to qualify for the Open is as insane as asking Mickey Mantle to go two-four-four on the day before the world series, or be benched."

The U.S.G.A. two years ago sharply cut down the list of exempt players from the top 20 finishers in the previous open tournament to the top 10.

The list also was cut to the last five winners of the championship. Previously all past champions were exempt.

Demaret said the U.S.G.A. also makes a mistake in doctoring up the Open courses.

"The Open has had more fluke champions than any other tournament," he said. "The way they cut the rough in the open and narrow the fairways, you can be penalized more for hitting a ball five feet off line than 100 feet off line. That's stupid in itself."

"I don't think there'll be a solution until the pros band together and demand a say in the conduct of the Open with the threat of Boycott."

New Orleans—Al Williams, 154, Los Angeles, outpointed Charley Cotton, 154, Toledo, Ohio, 10.

Las Vegas—Julio Maderos, 195, Havana, outpointed Bob Satterfield, 186, Chicago, 10.

COLUMBIANA

Strawberry Growers Will Meet Thursday

COLUMBIANA — The tour arranged by strawberry growers for Thursday evening at their recent meeting at Fairfield School will include attention to raspberries and vegetables as well, along with talks by Richard L. Bere, fruit and vegetable marketing specialist from Ohio State University, and by Robert Hill of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster on berry production problems.

Committees will report on plans for advertising and marketing, and Joseph Less of near Washingtonville will report on the Delaware-Maryland tour last week.

Strawberries, raspberries and vegetables will be inspected at the Virgil Yeager farm near Greenford where the tour will start at 6:30, with visits to the R. D. Knopp, John Ferguson and Charles Feicht farms in the Greenford area before proceeding to the A. C. Ferguson strawberry and vegetable farm east of Columbiana, where the program will be carried out.

D. W. BAILEY, Wilbur Spanabel and Grant Culp were elected trustees for three years at the 10:45 a.m. service Sunday in the Methodist Church. The Rev. T. C. Mayer will hold his last quarterly conference here at 7:30 p.m. today as superintendent of Steubenville district, having been appointed pastor of First Church, Warren. A fellowship hour and refreshments will follow the conference. The Rev. W. S. Longworth is concluding his ninth year as pastor here.

Members of Brownie Troop 2, Girl Scouts of the Methodist church, Mrs. Virginia Way, leader, visited the Berg Bretzel factory in Leetonia this forenoon. Accompanying the group besides Mrs. Way were Mrs. George Cannon, assistant leader, Mrs. Lillian Reash and Mrs. Lois Curl.

Towasi Circle will meet in the Presbyterian Church at 8 p.m. tomorrow with Mrs. Clifford Esterly in charge of the program. Mrs. John Berchtold will conduct devotions. Hostesses will be Mrs. Melvin Wenderoth, Mrs. Emerson Hively, Mrs. Austin Bowman, Mrs. Lee Hawkins, and Mrs. Charles Moser.

Queen Esther Class of Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church will meet at the home of Mrs. J. A. Sensenbacher, S. Elm St., at 8 p.m. tomorrow. Associate hostesses will be Mrs. Richard Firestone and Mrs. Carey Houlette. Miss Jennie Eileen Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, Duquesne St. Ext., Columbiana, and Donald Leffel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Leffel of New Waterford, were married in the Methodist Church in East Fairfield at 9 a.m. Saturday in the presence of the immediate families. Rev. George Bailey, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony. The bride wore a light blue suit with white accessories.

MRS. LOIS Sauerwein of RD 2, Salem, attended her sister as matron of honor, and William Leffel of New Waterford attended his brother as best man. The couple left immediately after the ceremony on a trip to Florida, and on their return will live temporarily with his parents.

The bride is a 1957 graduate of Columbiana High School, and the groom a 1956 graduate of New Waterford High. Mr. Leffel is in the employ of Schaeffer Motor Sales, S. Main St., Columbiana.

Mrs. Helen Moore, waitress, of RD 1, Columbiana, and Howard A. Basey, salesman, of Youngstown, were married at 3 p.m. last Thursday by Justice of the Peace Luther Donbar at his home, 120 W. Railroad St. They will live near Youngstown on Meridian Road, where they have bought a home.

The Booster Club will complete arrangements at its meeting in the High School building at 8 p.m. tomorrow for the erection of the press box at the Firestone Park stadium. Part of the work has been done. Arrangements will also be made for the club to carry out its annual project of providing equipment for the summer recreation program at the park, which will begin next week. It will be the last meeting of the club until the beginning of the school year in September.

Appoints New Chief Of Washington Bureau

CLEVELAND (AP)—Alvin Silverman is the new chief of the Cleveland Plain Dealer's Washington bureau.

His appointment to succeed the late Walker S. Buel, who died May 23, was announced by editor Wright Bryan Monday night. Bryan also announced that Todd Simon would replace Silverman as assistant city editor on the day desk and that Sidney E. Elsner would succeed Robert C. Barton as assistant city editor in charge of state news. Barton resigned to become editor of the Lima Citizen.

BANKER IS INDICTED
CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Robert W. Cummings, 40, former manager of the Chesterland branch of the First National Bank of Burton, was indicted by the Geauga County grand jury Monday on five counts of forgery and five counts of embezzlement. He has admitted embezzling $28,855 of the bank's funds. Cummings, who is free on $10,000 bond, is to be arraigned Thursday morning before Geauga County Monnon Pleas Judge Harold J. Richmond.

Edward B. Detwiler

Edward B. Detwiler, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Detwiler of 224 S. Main St., Columbiana, will be one of 26 young singers of the Columbus Boy-choir to tour South America August to October. This renowned musical organization of Princeton, N. J., is the first youth group to be chosen for a concert tour abroad under the State Department cultural relations program.

Directed by Donald Bryant, the singing boys, all of them 11-14 years of age, will perform in 10 Latin American countries, Mexico, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil, Venezuela, and Cuba. The group will fly from New York Aug. 5 and return Oct. 20. Two teachers will travel with the troupe.

On the program will be the American opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors," by Menotti, the adult roles in which will be taken by four students of the Westminster Choir College, while the boys will form the shepherds' chorus. The remainder of the program will consist chiefly of other American music.

Lisbon Kiwanis Club Sets Ladies Night Fete
LISBON — The annual Kiwanis Club's ladies night party will be held Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple.
The dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m., followed by a humorous talk by a past president and past lieutenant governor of Ohio Kiwanis, R. Dale Miller. Group and quartet singing will follow.
Dancing will be enjoyed after the program, with the music furnished by the Lisbon High School dance band directed by Miss Betty Mitchell. For those not dancing, games will be held in another room of the building.

POSTPONES DECISION
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The American Baptist Convention will announce at next year's convention in Cincinnati whether it will move its national headquarters from New York to Chicago. A majority of the denomination's membership is concentrated in the Midwest. The convention Monday postponed a decision when two votes on the proposed shift gave favorable majorities of only 58 and 84 out of 2,000 delegates.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Holt Jr. and granddaughter Kathy Lance spent Sunday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Rummel at North Olmstead Falls.

PLANS FOR THE village homecoming event will be concluded when the Leetonia Sportsman's Association meets Thursday night at 8 in the club house in Leetonia.

All members are urged to attend the business session, which will be followed by a winner roast.

THE LEETONIA REPORTER, weekly publication, has suspended publication, temporarily, due to a shortage of help.

Fred Galley, editor and publisher, said he hopes to resume publication later this month. The paper was founded here 86 years ago.

The Salem News welcomes items of interest concerning Leetonia people and organizations. They may be either mailed to the News office or given to Miss Eleanor Coppersmith, 269 Ridge St.

12TH STUDENT DISMISSED
BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Jon Ruckspahl, a freshman from Dayton, Monday became the 12th student to be dismissed from Bowling Green State University for taking part in the May 24 riot at the school. The university also suspended two students and two fraternities, and police convicted one student on charges of inciting a riot. The riot erupted over student protests against university ban on liquor at social functions.

Police Activities For May Reported

Police investigated 18 auto mishaps and arrested 35 persons during May, Police Chief George T. Earley reported today.

Eleven of the accidents were of the two-car collisions while four others were auto-fixed object mishaps. There were two auto-bicycle accidents and one hit-skip accident.

Chief Earley pointed out that of the 35 arrests made, 12 were for intoxication; three for disorderly conduct; one, resisting arrest; one, driving while intoxicated; six, reckless operation; three for speeding, two, failing to yield the right of way; one for passing without the assured clear distance ahead; one, no driver's license; one, breaking and entering; one, AWOL; and three arrests on alien warrants.

Eight cases were reported to the F.B.I. They included six for petit larceny, one for grand larceny and one for breaking and entering.

Police deskmen answered 1,254 phone calls last month, 348 of which needed police attention.

A total of 1,065 traffic tickets was issued during May, Earley added.

Get in the fine-car swim at the low Ford price!

There's no need to pay a "fancy price" to enjoy fine-car luxury!
Ford is lowest priced* of the low-price three, yet offers values you'd expect only in cars costing far more!

To start with, you can easily pay twice the money, and not find lines that can hold a candle to Ford's for lowness, loveliness, or just plain good taste.

But step inside. That's when you'll find the real evidence of Ford's quality!

And, on the way in, note that Ford offers door checks that hold doors open in either of two positions—for easy entrance or exit. A little thing. But, in a fine car, why not? Then, inside, notice how comfortable those plush, foam-rubber seats are. They'll stay that way. And on long trips. For they're scientifically contoured over non-sag springs. Your rear-seat passengers are treated extra kindly, too—with spring assists to help them open and close the doors—with the most leg room in Ford's field!

Fine cars are smooth—and that's another place Ford really shows its stuff!

Ford delivers its famous V-8 power smooth as a whisper. That's because only Ford takes the pains to electronically balance each engine while running under its own power. Not even the makers of the most costly cars go this far to bring you super-smooth performance!

Ford rides fine-car smooth and quiet, too. You can thank the new "Inner Ford" for that. Ford, for instance, has a swept-back front suspension that actually "rolls with the punch" of every road bump.

Ford's rear springs automatically adjust to give the right ride for every road. And Ford keeps things quiet, with the most sound insulation in its field.

Fine cars are built to stay solid. So's Ford!

Ford has the only frame in its field to make use of rugged tubular steel beams. No car at the price offers so many roof-strengthening beams. Expensive cars aren't built of thicker body steel or with sounder engineering skill. Then, of course, in Ford you can have all the power assists and other conveniences found in fine cars. And they cost far less in Ford.* Yes sir! In every feature, every part, Ford is the fine car at half the fine-car price. Come in and see!
